WATSON WILL CLOSE CAMPAIGN

Former Representative Will Make the Last Speech Here on Night of Republican Rally Day.

BEVERIDGE IN THE AFTERNOON

Congressman Barnard Will Open the Campaign Tonight With a Speech at K. of P. Building.

Final arrangements were completed this morning so that James E. Watson will close the Republican campaign in Rush county on the evening of Saturday, November fifth, following the speech of Albert J. Beveridge in the afternoon. The day will be a grand old fashioned Republican rally, when drum corps and bands will be the order of the day. Albert J. Beveridge will deliver a speech in the afternoon at two o'clock in a place not yet decided upon.

The location for the two addresses on that day has not been arranged for as yet. There is considerable talk of holding the meetings in the Davis Brothers' big livery barn which is just now being completed. It is about the only place in the city which will furnish enough room for the crowd which is expected to gather. All of the other places in the city are considered too small to accommodate the immense crowd of people which it is expected will gather for the speakings. The county chairman, Verne Norris, expects to have several bands and drum corps to enliven the occasion and make it a holiday which is enjoyed only in campaign years.

The campaign will be opened tonight by William O. Barnard of New Castle, who is the candidate for re-election to congress from this district. He will deliver a Republican speech in the Knights of Pythias building at seven-thirty o'clock. Mr. Barnard has already spent two weeks campaigning, devoting one of them to Shelby and the other to Decatur county. The congressman has been well received every place that he has appeared and has been greeted by large crowds in all of the small towns as well as the large ones. Representative Barnard is an orator of ability and affords the people of Rushville an opportunity to come out and hear the issues of the campaign discussed in a sensible manner for the first time this fall.

Congressman Barnard expects to spend most of the week in this county. Tomorrow night at seven-thirty o'clock he will deliver an address at Carthage, and on the following evening at the some time he will speak to an audience in Milroy. Arrangements have just been completed so that he will talk in the Center township school house in Center township Thursday evening. His other dates have not yet been arranged.

GETTING BETTER RESULTS

Shelbyville Paper Says Merchants Are Using the Newspapers.

Under the headline, "Are Getting Wise," the Shelbyville Democrat says: The sign writer at Rushville is leaving that city for better fields as he is unable to exist there. This shows that the Rushville merchants are getting wise to the advertising game and are using the newspapers now instead of signs and placards—and get better results.

BROTHER KILLED IN WRECK

Orville Zimmer Here After Settling up Victim's Business.

Orville Zimmer of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, is here for a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. Smith Carney in West Seventh street. Mr. Carney was called to this part of the country by the death of his brother, who was killed in the traction wreck near Kingsland, where so many Bluffton people were killed. Mr. Zimmer was a resident of Bluffton.

CELEBRATE RALLY DAY AT THE CHURCH

The Rev. George M. Lehigh Pleases Large Audiences in First Baptist House of Worship.

HAS LEFT FOR CALIFORNIA

Rally day was very fittingly observed at the First Baptist church yesterday, when services were held all day, with preaching in the morning, afternoon and evening. Large and appreciative audiences were present at all of the services. On account of the lateness of the trains in the morning, the Rev. George M. Lehigh did not arrive here in time for the morning service. He preached two excellent sermons, however, one in the afternoon at two o'clock and one in the evening at seven o'clock. It was the last opportunity that the Rushville friends of the Rev. Mr. Lehigh had to hear him and many of them took advantage of it. He has left for Long Branch, California, to accept a call there. Rally day was celebrated in the Sunday school and in the B. Y. P. U. meeting in the evening also.

URGE A RECORD MEETING TONIGHT

Committee on Investigation of Cost of Sidewalk Lights Has Some New Quotations to Present.

OTHER THINGS ARE PROMISED

It is urged that a record breaking attendance be had at the called meeting of the Rushville Retail Merchants' Association, which will be held in the court house this evening. The committee, which was appointed to investigate the exact cost of the new sidewalk lights will report at that time. It is said that the committee has a report out of the ordinary to make as they have learned several things in the last two days, which will greatly reduce the cost of the lights. It is known that the chairman of the committee has received some new quotations on the light posts which will come as a revelation and possibly as a solution of the problem. It is requested that every member become a committee of one and bring others to the meeting, as several other things are to come up besides the light question.

TELLS OF VISIT WITH THE POPE

Mrs. May W. Donnan Entertains the Members of Study Class With Incidents of Trip Abroad.

IMPRESSIONS OF PASSION PLAY

Mentions Four Prominent Novelists Who Are Chief in Minds of European Readers Now.

The study class, led by Mrs. May W. Donnan of Indianapolis, held its first meeting of the term in the parlors of the Main Street Christian church Saturday afternoon at half-past two o'clock. Mrs. Donnan's talk was a miscellaneous one.

She told of her visit to Oberammergau, gave original impressions and criticisms of the Passion Play and told interesting things of the quaint little village and the villagers. While in Rome this summer Mrs. Donnan had audience with the Pope and she gave the interesting details of that ceremony.

She spoke af four novelists, who are chief in the minds of European readers just now, W. Pett Ridge, John Galsworthy, H. G. Wells and Arnold Bennett.

"Legends in Literature" is the subject which Mrs. Donnan will discuss in the term just beginning. It is her purpose to take certain myths, show how the story comes down through different nations, how it is treated in poetry and prose, and give the moral interpretation. This is important to all readers, for without a knowledge of myths and legends one cannot have a good understanding of the best of English poetry.

Mrs. Donnan's class is one of the things of which Rushville may be proud, and that the ladies are not recreant to the educational and cultural opportunities which this class, with its talented leader offers, is evidenced by the large membership that greeted Mrs. Donnan Saturday afternoon. Fifteen of the city school teachers attended. The next meeting will be Saturday afternoon, Oct. 15.

BARNARD DATES.

Congressman W. O. Barnard of New Castle, who is seeking re-election as representative from this district on the Republican ticket, will open the campaign here with a speech in the Knights of Pythias building this evening at seven-thirty o'clock. Tomorrow night at the same hour he will deliver an address in Carthage and on Wednesday evening at the same time he will talk in Milroy. Thursday evening Representative Barnard will deliver a Republican speech at the Center township school house in Center township. It is probable that a date will be arranged for Friday ad Saturday nights in other parts of the county.

SHELBY FAIR, A SUCCESS.

A meeting of the Shelby County Fair Association board was held Saturday afternoon, and the report of the treasurer showed that the last fair was a financial success. The first of this year there was $113.09 in the treasury, and, with all bills of the last fair paid, there is now $556.04 in the treasury.

LET HIM THINK THAT HE IS BOSS

Is the Advice of the Rev. R. W. Abberley Gives Wives in Lecture-Sermon.

ON "THE MODEL HUSBAND"

Question Raised, When we Are Married, we Are One, But Which One?

That the model husband, as discussed by the Rev. R. W. Abberley in the third of a series of lecture sermons on, "The Wedding Ring" at the Main Street Christian church last evening, is something different from the real is certain, but he set up an ideal which married men will probably do well to follow, as he said. The main auditorium of the church was filled with an appreciative audience which listened attentively to the discourse.

"First of all, the husband should treat his wife as his equal" said the Rev. Mr. Abberley. "The question has been raised as to who is boss even though the scripture points out that the man shall be head of the house. I remember an incident after a marriage, when the bride said that since they were married, they were one, but which one. Another bride, when asked if she cared to be president or vice-president of the organization, replied that she believed she would prefer to be treasurer.

"Statistics show that the average age of the bachelor is forty years while that of the married man is fifty-nine years, so that everything seems to be decidedly in favor of matrimony. There is no reason why man should not marry and treat his wife as his equal when he gets her, for there are few women who do not have as much brains as their husband and most women are stronger spiritually. If it is not possible to realize the ideal, the model husband, it is posible to idealize the real. The question as to whether life is worth living depends largely on the liver, anyway. I have had many brides come to me before the ceremony and ask that the word obey be left out of the ceremony.

"A model husband should love his home for his home's sake. It has often been said that it is impossible to keep the young man away before the wedding and it is more impossible to keep him at home after the wedding. He should at least be at home as much as he possibly can and enjoy its healthful surroundings. He should also be a man of true moral worth, who takes some pride in his personal appearance. The sweat of the brow or the dirt that comes from honest labor is not at all disgraceful but a man should at least attempt to clean up after his day's work is finished.

"He should be pure of life. Immorality in the home will make it a dwelling place of demons. I can not understand why parents who will allow their daughters to marry an immoral man, simply for a position in society. The model husband should be a man of sobriety. He should be temperate in all things and especially abstain from strong drink. The young woman should never marry a man who will touch his lips to liquor.

"The model husband should be a man of courtesy in his home and not only while out in public. I have a secret to let out. I believe that no woman will love a man whom she can control. The model husband should at least have enough force of character to believe that he is boss.

"The model husband would not be a coward, for women can never admire and effeminate man, just as a man will not admire a masculine woman. The model husband will not be a weakling but a man of force of character. He will be a good provider and not a ne'er-do-well or an incompetent, who has to board with his wife on her earnings. He will treat his wife with generosity and not be stingy with his family. Above all he will be a Christian and a gentleman who loves God and His Son Jesus Christ."

Next Sunday night Rev. Mr. Abberley will speak on "The Divorce Question."

FORSAKES MOTOR FOR HIS BRIDE

Ralph Hileman Sells His "Go-Devil," Telling His Friends a Different Story.

PROMISES TO STAY AT HOME

A marriage license was issued Saturday afternoon to Ralph Hileman and Nellie Black. Ralph, better known as "Shorty," just sold his motorcycle several days ago, telling "the boys" that he was going to get a job firing on the railroad and would have no use for the bike, throwing off suspicion of his coming marriage. With Saturday's developments it seems that "Shorty" evidently overlooked the tandem attachment for his "go-devil" or perhaps has promised to remain at home on Sundays.

FINES BOYS FOR RIDING TRAINS

Omer Adams and Albert Guard Assessed One Dollar and Costs Each For Offense.

BIG FOUR BOTHERED BY THAT

Mayor Black fined Omer Adams and Albert Guard one dollar and costs in police court this afternoon for riding trains through the city. They were arrested yesterday afternoon for hopping and riding a Big Four train. The two boys were allowed to go on their own recognizance to appear this morning. The trial was continued from this morning to this afternoon and did not come up until about three o'clock. It developed during the trial that the Big Four officials have sent word here that they have been bothered of late by boys riding trains here in the city and they have asked that it be stopped. Mayor Black gave the boys a lecture, telling them that the fine would be heavier upon a second offense. Adams and Guard made an attempt to get someone to stay their fines.

STATED CONVOCATION.

Rush Chapter No. 24 R. A. M. will have a stated convocation this (Monday) evening. Business of importance. A good attendance is desired.

DELIVERS FIRST SERMON OF YEAR

The Rev. J. W. Turner is Greeted by Large Audience at St. Paul M. E. Church.

HELL ADMITS MAN, IS THOUGHT

Pastor Made "How the Gospel is to be Preached From His Pulpit," Keynote.

Last Sunday morning at the St. Paul M. E. church, Dr. J. W. Turner began his second year as pastor of the church. He introduced his sermon by stating that the keynote of his discourse would be "How the Gospel is to be preached from his pulpit, or Whom we preach."

The pastor stated that all religion embodied a personality; and that personality is Christ; that our faith is founded on a personality, because that personality had a divine origin in His favor.

The minister dwelt at length on the pre-existence of Christ and stated that Christ was the pre-existing Son of God and had existed from all eternity. He stated that all creation was a thing of the future to Christ, and that Christ was not a subordinate creation, but was a part of the God-head. In his practical applications the minister said that if there is no help for the millions, the earth shall be a ruin and lost; but by the way of the love in the God-head the world would be redeemed through the blood of Christ.

In his closing remarks the speaker stated that Christ has appeared and His life of righteousness had been a blessing to humanity; and religion, said he, now occupies the places where sin and corruption existed. The life of Christ is worthy of being imitated because of his submissiveness to the will of God. The last thought was marked by the startling statement that "Hell claims man"—but heaven through the cross interfered between criminality and divine justice.

A large congregation greeted the Rev. Mr. Turner on his return to his pulpit, which is a mark of his popularity as a minister, a neighbor and a friend. A general invitation is extended to attend services at the Methodist church.

JUDGEMENT FOR PLAINTIVE

Estate of Augustus Perkins is Given $1,000 in Damage Suit.

Late Saturday evening, the jury in the case of A. C. Brown, administrator of the estate of Augustus Perkins, deceased, against the C. H. & D. railway for ten thousand dollars, returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of one thousand dollars. It will be remembered that in the first trial in the circuit court, the plaintiff was given judgment for two thousand dollars. The railroad appealed to the appellate court and the case was sent back here for retrial. The hearing occupied two days in the circuit court. David McKee of Connersville acted as special judge.

WASH THAT ITCH AWAY

It is said that there are certain springs in Europe that give relief and cure to Eczema and other skin diseases. Would yon not be willing to spend your last cent to find the cure?

But you need not leave home for these distant springs. Relief is right here in your own home town!

A simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients as compounded only in D. D. D. Prescription will bring instant relief to that terrible burning itch, and leave the skin as smooth and healthy as that of a child.

Poor Cooking and Divorces

It is probably true that all the divorce cases pending in the Rush circuit court are not primarily due to the wife's poor cooking, but that some of them had their start from that cause there is little doubt. Even though it does not lead to the divorce court the woman's ignorance of cooking is too often the cause of unhappy marriages. Most men are animal enough to be at least contented if they are well fed. In this connection the following from the Chicago Journal is timely.

If girls who desire faithful husbands only knew it, the culinary art is the surest road to domestic success.

Poor cooking has broken up many a home and severed many a martial bond. No man who is fed upon indigestible, ill-cooked food can wear a pleasant smile or exercise that optimism which is the strongest influence for success. Nor can he do himself justice in his daily task, be it physicial or mental.

Every girl should learn to cook. She may wed a man who can provide her with servants, so that she never need to put a finger to a feather duster, let alone a frying pan, but her table will never be as well served if she leaves everything to them as it will be if she can detect the cause of poor cooking and teach her servants to remedy it.

The poor man's wife can effect great economics by knowing food values and the best way to convert them into the human system. The rich man's wife can win fame among her friends by a little study of the finer points of cooking.

FAIRBANKS WILL GREET THEODORE

Former President To Be Introduced By Former Colleague.

GREAT MEETING AT CAPITAL

Escort of Republican Clubs Will Meet Roosevelt at Station—Ample Space to Hold People Who Desire to Hear Address—Quick Trip to Anderson Will Follow Rally.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, when he speaks in Indianapolis, October 13, will be introduced by former Vice President Charles Warren Fairbanks. The former president and the former vice president, therefore, will be seen and heard at the same time.

When Chairman Harry Wallace, of the Marion county Republican committee, who is planning the details, took up with Mr. Fairbanks the matter of presiding over the Roosevelt meeting, the former senator and former vice president expressed his gratification at being asked to introduce the country's most distinguished private citizen.

This occasion will recall the presence here of Col. Roosevelt, when he was serving as president, for the purpose of making the speech at the unveiling of the Lawton monument. At that time he was entertained at the home of Mr. Fairbanks and met many Indianapolis and Indiana people.

Chairman Wallace will arrange for meeting Col. Roosevelt at the union station, when he arrives, with the Indianapolis military band and a parade to be made up of all who wish to honor the former president.

The parade will not be in charge of any particular organization, but all Republican clubs will be welcome to participate.

A stand will be erected just north of the federal building from which Col. Roosevelt will speak. Thus, not only will the great crowds which are expected to be present will have an excellent opportunity to hear him, but he will be in full view of all.

Col. Roosevelt probably will be taken from the speaker's stand to his private car, which will be in waiting, and will be hurried to Anderson, where he will speak about thirty minutes. From Anderson he will be taken to Muncie for a speech, concluding in time to catch the fast train to the east.

CHOOSES INDEPENDENCE

Democratic Editor Will Help Cause of Beveridge.

The Evansville Press, a Democratic newspaper, has come out editorially in support of Senator Beveridge on the ground that the Republican senator has made good in the cause of the people and is deserving of re-election for that reason. The stand taken by the Democratic paper has caused much interest in the state generally. The South Bend Times, another Democratic paper, referring to the incident, says: "There is nothing startling about the independence of the Evansville Press."

The part of the Press editorial which has caused comment follows:

"Beveridge has made a good senator and the Press believes he should be sent back to Washington by the Hoosier state to continue the good work he has so well begun.

"What's the difference so long as the men have been found to be on the square? Call them mugwumps if you wish—the name or brand cuts no figure just so long as the men are fighting for the best interests of their constituents and not playing into the hands of the capitalistic class at the expense of the common people.

"What does the Republican party as a party stand for? What does the Democratic party as a party stand for? There are times when nobody can answer those questions to the satisfaction of any faction of either party.

"At such times what is an intelligent voter to do? Vote a ticket merely because his daddy did, or after weighing the men, their records and the measures they represent with an open, unbiased mind, support the men and principles he holds best without regard to party yoke

"If our nation is not to perish from the earth, patriots to the end of time will find it necessary to stand out against the order of things inimical, no matter what label they bear.

"We all know what Beveridge stands for. He stood in the upper house and raised his voice against corporation rule. He fought against the nefarious Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. He fought for the people's interests at every stage of the game.

"Forget the party name. Look at the men. Study their characters. See what they have done. The time has come when broad-minded men can have no great confidence in a community where there's no independence of political thought and action. There's no assurance under hidebound party rule that the right shall always prevail. The best men and the best measures would be rejected under strict partisanship when bosses apply the party lash for their own selfish interests."

Democratic Governor Takes Only Young Men to Antietam.

OLD SOLDIERS ARE IGNORED

Event at Antietam Battlefield Was One in Which Aged Veterans Were Concerned, Yet Not One Was Found in the Escort of the Governor—Action Noted by Soldiers as Peculiar to Democratic Party Men.

Governor Marshall, the Democratic executive of Indiana, organized a military staff the other day and traveled to the battlefield of Antietam to unveil an Indiana monument to the five Indiana regiments which took part in that tremendous decisive battle, the bloodiest of history.

On that "military staff" surrounding the Democratic governor of Indiana there appeared no civil war veterans.

Yet the Antietam unveiling was an event in which civil war soldiers were interested first of all. The commission named in the law was made up of men who fought at Antietam. Why not the military staff"?

Now the old soldiers are not complaining against the Democratic governor because he has thrown out two civil war soldiers who held places under Republican administration. The veterans do not blame the Democratic governor for giving the offices of adjutant general and quartermaster general to Democrats who did not serve in time of war. But at the same time there is a feeling that for the Antietam affair a thoughtful executive might have selected an honorary staff of the old boys who fought in the 'sixties. In other words, it is pointed out that the Democratic governor lost an opportunity to make friends with the soldiers when he carried to Maryland a staff of youngsters and left the civil war men behind.

Such incidents tend to remind the old men of the days when this same Democratic party not only refused to recognize Union soldiers, but went into convention and solemnly declared by resolution that the Indiana soldiers and all other Union fighting men were "failures," and that the war for the Union was a "failure."

Today the soldiers have phrases and fine words from Democrats, and pension pledges lavishly made. But when it comes to giving an old soldier recognition, official or honorary, the Democrats turn their heads and ignore him.

GOING REPUBLICAN.

Marion County Sure to Repudiate Taggart This Year.

Marion county is going Republican this year. Democrats have been trying to impress the voters over the state that Taggart is on top in Marion county and the Seventh district, but the fact is the Republicans are in better shape than they were last fall when they carried the city of Indianapolis by a good majority. Marion county Republicans are united absolutely, and organized as never before. The Republican ticket is more than acceptable, it has given rise to unusual enthusiasm among the workers and voters. The poll shows the independent voters, the labor men, and many Democrats prepared to vote with the Republicans this year. Senator Beveridge, who lives in Indianapolis, and who is personally popular in that city and in Marion county, gives strength to the whole ticket. On the other hand the Keach Democrats are in revolt against the Taggart crowd because of the primary election double-cross handed to James L. Keach by Thomas Taggart. The last time James L. Keach stood out against the errors and evils of Democracy in Marion county, the county went Republican by more than 13,000. Not much discouragement in that this year, in view of the fact Mr. Keach is openly and avowedly at odds with the Democratic campaign, and at enmity against Taggart and all Taggart's fellows.

PLEDGES EASILY BROKEN.

Democrats of Daviess County Break Compact With Men of Pike.

In Daviess and Pike counties there is a joint district on state senator. Daviess has the power to name the nominee. Pike is helpless. The first senatorial nominations went to Daviess, with an agreement in both parties that Pike would get the next nominee on both sides. Daviess county Republicans gave Pike county Republicans the nominee this year without question. On the other hand, Daviess county Democrats violated the agreement, used their power, and treated the Pike county Democrats with utter contempt. The Washington Herald discusses the difference between the two parties as illustrated by the pledge keeping by Republicans against pledge breaking by Democrats. The contrast is marked and the situation is typical.

The young Democrat finds John Kern blocking the way of worthy aspiration. That is why young Democrats join Republicans for Roosevelt and progress, in a party where the young man has a show to make good.

LaGrippe Weakness

"After a spell of La Grippe I was so weak and exhausted I could hardly stand. I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine and was soon better in every way."
MRS. F. J. NORTON, Freeville, N. Y.

La Grippe seems to wrench every particle of vitality from its unfortunate victims. That's where the principal danger lies; because it leaves the system in a weakened condition which invites more serious diseases. During convalescence Dr. Miles' Nervine should be taken to restore nervous energy, and overcome this weakening influence which is the most serious effect of La Grippe.

The first bottle will benefit; if not, your druggist will return your money.

JOSSE FAILS TO CATCH ROBBERS

Darkness Gave Bold Yeggmen Too Good a Start.

TRAIL FOOLED BLOODHOUNDS

Cracksmen Blow Open the Safe in the Bank at Leiter's Ford, but the Noise of the Explosion Was Such as to Arouse Citizens, and the Robbers Were Compelled to Flee Without Their Loot.

Kewanna, Ind., Oct. 3.—An attempt was made by three men to rob Leiter's State bank at Leiter's store, seven miles north of here. Men were heard to break into a blacksmith shop near the bank, where they secured tools and forced the bank door. A few minutes later an explosion was also heard which wrecked the door of the safe and awoke a large number of citizens. An immediate ringing of the telephone frightened the safe-blowers away. An attempt was made to follow the men, but was abandoned on account of the darkness. As day began to break the men's tracks could be followed in the wet grass, and they were tracked across the Tippecanoe river and north about eight miles. Here the tracks indicated that the men went into a thicket. A posse of about 100 members followed the trail, and it had been decided to surround the thicket, which consists of 160 acres. Detective Silas Morgan of Logansport was called to bring his bloodhounds, and he reached the place about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. For three hours the men worked the dogs, but were unable to get a scent. At dark the search was given up.

MAY HAVE THIRD TRIAL

Miller's Second Conviction Followed by Motion For New Hearing.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 3.—Heran Miller, once a candidate for the Democratic nomination for sheriff, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in a trial at Auburn on change of venue. The jury stood 11 to 1 for the first degree penalty until one man, who said he would "stay until he rotted" before he would vote for a life sentence, swung the eleven to his way of thinking.

The verdict carries a punishment of from two to twenty-one years imprisonment. Miller heard the verdict with great disappointment, as he has protested that he had no hand in the killing of Town Marshal Croy, who was called to arrest burglars.

This conviction is Miller's second, the first being for life. The supreme court reversed that verdict on a technicality. Judge Erwin of the counsel for Miller, made a motion for a new trial, which Judge Best took under advisement.

NEGRO SENT TO JAIL

He Deserted His Wife to Elope With a White Girl.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 3.—Arrested on a charge of eloping with Ethel Latham, a white girl, Ollie Lee, a negro chef, was given a six months' jail sentence. The negro pleaded guilty to the charge and declared he had spent a week with the Latham girl in Toledo. He said he sent the girl back to this city as soon as he heard of the investigation by the police. The girl lives in this city with her mother and Lee deserted his wife to elope with the white girl.

Two More Wreck Victims Dead.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 3.—Miss Margaret Tribolett, daughter of one of the victims of the Kingsland interurban wreck, and Amos Ellenberger of Berne, another victim, are dead at St. Joseph's hospital. These two deaths make the total forty-three, and it is probable that F. A. Parkhurst, who is making a hard fight for life, may be added to the list.

Tragedy at Peppertown.

Brookville, Ind., Oct. 3.—Following his wife, who had left him two weeks ago, Charles Biddle, formerly of Chalmers, Ind., came to Peppertown and is believed to have killed the woman with a shotgun, afterward setting fire to her oil-soaked body. He escaped after holding off an uncle of the woman at the point of a gun.

An Alibi His Defense.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 3.—That an alibi will be made the main defense of William McGowan, now on trial for the murder of George Linis in the Elks clubroom July 25 last, was the declaration made by Attorney Beecher in his opening statement to the jury.

TWO HUNDRED MINERS KILLED IN EXPLOSION

A Dreadful Disaster Near Esperanza, Mexico.

Eagle Pass, Tex., Oct. 3.—The coal mine disaster near Esperanza, Mexico, about 100 miles south of here, Saturday, was worse than early reports indicated. Advices received here are to the effect that more than 200 men were in the chamber where the explosion occurred, and that they are all believed to be dead. After the explosion a rescuing party entered the shaft, when a second explosion occurred. Eight members of the party were killed.

The debris which blocked the entrance to the chamber was cleared away after several hours' work and dead bodies are being slowly recovered. The foul gas is interfering with the work. At last reports more than sixty bodies had been recovered.

A force of government soldiers and rurales is on the ground to preserve order. Members of the bereaved families are gathered around the mine's opening and the scene is heart-rending. The government has ordered an investigation of the cause of the explosion. The mine is owned by the Couahuila Coal company, a subsidiary concern of the Mexican Coal and Coke company, which is controlled by Erie railroad interests.

MAY CALL HIM HIGHER

The President May Name Justice Harlan to Succeed Fuller.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Justice John M. Harlan will preside over the United States supreme court when it meets next Monday. He is the senior associate justice, and as such will act as chief justice until a successor to Chief Justice Fuller is named and confirmed. There has been much talk lately that President Taft may decide to nominate Associate Justice Harlan as chief justice for the remainder of his service on the bench, which must needs be brief, with the understanding that ultimately former Governor Charles E. Hughes will be made chief justice. Justice Harlan was seventy years old on June 1, and has been eligible to retire for seven years. He will have served thirty-three years on the supreme court bench on Nov. 29.

GIVEN FREEDOM

The President Pardons Four of the Sugar Trust Convicts.

Washington, Oct. 3.—President Taft has pardoned Edward A. Boyle, John R. Coyle, Patrick J. Hennessey and Thomas Kehoe, four sugar weighers who are serving sentences for connection with the customs frauds at New York. Each was sentenced last January to serve one year in prison. They will be released immediately because they gave information against Gerbracht and Heike, officers "higher up" in the trust.

Now Aviator Chavex is dead after crossing the Alps, and these new improvements in transportation keep on filling the orphan asylums.

Stimson, candidate for New York governor, is the sugar trust prober. No man can run for office successfully this fall unless he has extracted the appendix from some of the fattest trusts.

If President Taft's recommendations are carried out relative to a civil service order for postmasters and assistant postmasters, it will require a reorganization of political tactics in many sections.

There is a question in many minds whether it would be much of a promotion for Dr. Woodrow Wilson to step from the presidency of Princeton into the governorship of New Jersey—and there are so many chances of a misstep in the passage.

Congressman Wm. O. Barnard, who will peak tonight at the K. of P. hall, opening the campaign in Rush county, has been making a very favorable impression so far in his campaign for re-election. His fair candid statements of his record appeals strongly to his constituents. The Republicans of the district are awakening to the fact that the extra and regular sessions of Congress were unusual, and that new members were more liable to make mistakes under such condition than when the usual conditions prevail. Mr. Barnard's record is not only good, from a general standpoint, but it is especially good from a consistent party standpoint, and should commend him to the Republicans of the district. There is no good reason why, from any standpoint, Judge Barnard should not be re-elected. What can any Republican give as a reason for voting for Mr. Gray in preference to Judge Barnard?

Now that the cool autumn nights are coming on, how many of us will have the resolution to keep our windows open at night and breathe God's fresh air, instead of poison stuffed atmosphere in closely shut rooms?

It is not many years since most of us believed that windows open an inch or two at night during cool weather gave the human organism all necessary driving had better learn to most of us felt as afraid of a little cool air on our face, as of being exposed to the smallpox. People who have learned to take outdoor air freely into sleeping rooms every month in the year, find a tonic inspiration better than anything the druggist eand hand out. In this indoors age, most town dwellers are shut up in the bad air of offices and factories during the day time, but they can get during the night time the good air that gives outdoor workers their robust physique. So pile on the coverlids as you need them, but don't turn your room into a woodchuck hole by closing the windows.

Another Error for the the Hobble Skirts

At last the designs show signs of allowing a few advance facts to trickle out to those interested in fashions. Definite word as to skirts, sleeves, coats, hats and trimmings has been sent forth and has been received with rejoicing by the multitude of those who have been waiting with hardly restrained impatience. It seems from what news there is that the fashion creators must be in a stew. Dresses are being worn in the light of day, "tried out" they call it, and they show a bewildering variety of styles, although in some points all agree.

Lately there have been in this country much discussion concerning the fate of the hobble skirt and the possibility of a full, straight-hanging skirt replacing it. Now, at least, the hobble may be considered as among the things past. It was successful during the summer abroad as well as at home, but it has served its turn and must be discarded to make room for other and more reasonable things. Hobble coats, however, narrow coats with bands of fur around the feet, are still in fashion and, as they are reasonable enough, will be likely to remain for the season to come.

Street suits are made with straight gored skirts cut in such a way that they are really quite narrow round the feet, but not conspicuously so. There are no longer bands of material applied round the bottom, but the skirts are sometimes trimmed with braid or with superimposed panels in such a way that the band is suggested. It is said by reliable fashion reporters that none of the newest skirts are more than one and one-half yards round the lower edge, but in ordinary skirts the size of the hips should be taken into consideration and large women would do well to follow quite normal lines.

The majority of coats are of hip length, single-breasted and fastened below the bust with frogs or motifs of braid. Buttons were used so long for trimming that Paris has grown tired of them and avoids them whenever possible, but they are being used on some customes intended for the American trade.

In dresses, one-piece or two-piece, the kimona sleeve and the narrow skirt prevails while the tunic still reigns in its pristine glory. The fashion of veiling gowns is not yet passed though how long it will last no one can forsee. The directoire style, in girdles, panels and revere effects, show signs of returning with added force after its absence, and this will have a strong influence upon the evening gowns that will later be launched by the master designed. It must not be supposed that the narrow skirts, for they are to be very narrow, in house and evening gowns, will be so crude and inclined toward vulgarity as the gowns of the summer have been. To avoid this very undesirable effect most of the skirts of flexible materials are made slightly full around the hips and waistline and then they slope slightly in toward the feet, giving the narrow effect with no actual exaggeration. Besides the tunic, which is to be longer than formerly, the return of the Watteau pleat and the directorire panel will go far toward relieving the too obvious line typified by the recent hobble skirt.

"The Girl in the Kimona," a musical comedy dealing with the adventures of a young wife who was accidentally locked out of her apartments bidding her husband goodbye in negligee attire, and who was invited by a kind-hearted bachelor to step into his apartments until the janitor could be summoned to unlock her door, will be the attraction at English's in Indianapolis the first half of this week. The farce was written by Helen Bagg, contributor to magazines, and the music was composed by Phil Schwartz. The last half of the week will be devoted to "Miss Ananias," a new comedy produced this week by Cohan & Harris, in which they are starring Adelaide Thurston, who has toured the country at the head of companies playing "The Little Minister," "Sweet Clover," "Polly Primrose" and other plays of that type.

The Star Grand offers a comedy subject tonight entitled, "Lucy at Boarding School." It is a comedy of interest and fun. Earl Robertson will sing "In Bamboo Land."

The Vaudet management has made arrangements for a Power's picture play, "His Duty" tonight. It is a strong story which is replete with dramatic action. It depicts a tale of more than ordinary interest, a story taken from real life. The Vaudet will have a special vaudeville program Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week. A new illustrated song is on the program this evening.

The Palace will offer two Pathe Freres pictures tonight which constitute a well balanced program. "Who is Boss" is a comedy with a rich and racy plot. Mr. Younghusband clearly demonstrates that he is the boss when his mother-in-law comes for a visit with him and his wife. The mother-in-law arrives at the same conclusion. "Zoological Gardens in Antwerp" is an educational subject of much merit. A large number of views of birds and animals have been taken. The monkey house has also come in for much attention, and various comic incidents add a touch of whimsicality. A new illustrated song will be rendered.

New SAXONIA
Incandescent Kerosene
OIL LAMP BURNER

SAXONIA BURNER
Complete with Mantle and Chimney, $3 00, Express Prepaid

Fits either No. 2 or No 3 Collar Lamp.

It produces three times the light of an ordinary lamp at one third the cost. The SAXONIA is truly a great invention. A feature seemingly impossible has at last been perfected with the SAXONIA. Gas is made directly off the top of the wick and burned on the inside of the mantle, similar in looks to the ordinary city gas mantle. The combination of air, oil and the Saxonia makes any lamp a wonderful power of light and absolutely safe.

The SAXONIA lights on the wick and turns down (and there is no odor) like any ordinary lamp, turn it up and the flame immediately expands to the mantle and then into a beautiful, strong white gas light, so strong and so economical.

Why we handle The FAVORITE

Being a Story of How we Were Convinced

First, we were attracted by the handsome appearance of the Favorite, but we did not decide to handle it for this reason alone, although we decided it was the most handsome base burner on the market.

We wanted a better reason than an attractive looking stove, so we looked it over thoroughly, comparing it point by point with other base burners, and this is what we found:

That the material from which it is made is all of the highest grades—the doors, mica frames and joints being absolutely air and paper tight.

We were told the Favorite produced the most satisfactory results with about half as much coal as other base burners. We discovered this to be true. We found the reason to be in its Triple Exposed Flues.

The sectional cut herewith explains these flues better than we can in words. The heat passes from the fire pot into the two outside down flues, across the bottom of the stove, under the ash pan, where it enters the central flue. It then passes back over the bottom and up the central flue to the chimney. Just think of this great radiating surface, and it is more than doubled, because the flues are SET OUT from the back of the stove. The flues therefore radiate from all sides, and the back of the stove radiates heat, also. This feature alone places the Favorite in a class by itself, making it the best and most economical heating stove in existence. But other features of its construction must not be overlooked. Would like to tell you all about them.

WE GUARANTEE "FAVORITE" STOVES AND RANGES "BEST IN THE WORLD"

Do not put off buying your heating stove until the cold days come. Come and see us now, and our Favorite will be your Favorite too.

LORD LOVELAND DISCOVERS AMERICA

BY C.N. & A.M. WILLIAMSON.

Copyright, 1910, by Doubleday, Page & Company
Copyright, 1908, by the McClure Company

What a rogue to send his master off to a strange country stripped practically naked, and how the master longed to have the rogue within kicking distance instead of safe across the sea!

How was he to fight on the tilting ground of society and bear away a millionairess when his sole possessions consisted of what he stood up in and the contents of a suit case and a cabin trunk?

Luckily Foxham had not been able to annex his master's letter of credit, but Val had uses for the hundred and fifty pounds other than buying a new outfit. How he wished now that he had not played bridge quite so often on board ship, emptying his pockets of spare cash! The scrape he was in was as hard to win out of as a black London fog, and while groping for light a mild question from the hotel valet did not sweeten his temper.

"Am I really to carry all these things away, sir?"

"Oh, go to the devil and take them with you!"

The servant bolted toward safety with a leaning tower of Foxham's garments on his arm. It was nobody's business how he meant to dispose of them, and a second later he would have passed the danger line had not a page boy selected that identical instant to knock at Lord Loveland's door.

Man and youth collided. The top heavy pile of clothing crumbled into ruin, Foxham's loathed shirts and waistcoats blotting out the threshold. What the valet said long habits of servitude rendered inaudible, but what Loveland said might have been heard at the end of the corridor. And there were listeners nearer—Major Cadwallader Hunter and a companion who "represented" one of New York's leading newspapers.

Major Cadwallader Hunter had been somewhat doubtful of his wisdom in paying this uninvited call. He had hinted that he might drop in at the hotel to see how Lord Loveland got on and had not been encouraged to do so. But Tony Kidd of the New York Light was a pretty good excuse for persevering, and he certainly had been badly in want of an excuse.

The journalist, sent down by his paper to meet the Mauretania, had just exhausted the available supply of homecoming millionaires when he spied Major Cadwallader Hunter and carelessly culled him by the way as worth a short paragraph at the bottom of a column.

Cadwallader Hunter was glad of a paragraph anywhere, but thought he saw his way to one higher up, perhaps even with a headline. So he happened to mention "a connection of his," the Marquis of Loveland, who had been on board, though for reasons the noble name did not appear on the passenger list, and Mr. Kidd took the bait. Loveland was described by his alleged cousin as a "dear boy," so handsome, so clever, one of the oldest peerages in England, etc., in the Grenadier guards, don't you know, and all that sort of thing; had gone on ahead to secure rooms at the Waldorf-Astoria, though invitations had been showered upon him by the best people on board ship. As soon as he could escape with life and luggage Cadwallader Hunter intended to pay a friendly call and inspect Lord Loveland's new quarters.

Of course Mr. Kidd wanted to call, too, and get a "story" for his paper. But at this suggestion the bear leader shook his head. Charming fellow as Loveland was when you knew him, he was rather a difficult man to approach and had some ridiculous prejudice against American pressmen. Certainly, unless influence were brought to bear, he would refuse to see Mr. Kidd. But Cadwallader Hunter would like to do the Light a good turn and give the paper a chance for a "scoop." He would take Mr. Kidd under his wing and use his persuasive powers to obtain some sort of interview.

When, arriving at the hostelry, he had talked for a few minutes with pleasant condescension to a hotel clerk his self esteem had so risen that he no longer dreaded a cold reception. Nor did he receive one. His welcome was, on the contrary, far warmer than he had expected, and the hot blast of Loveland's wrath swept him back a step or two, so that he trod hard upon Tony Kidd's most pampered toe.

A difficult young man to approach, indeed.

The representative of the New York Light was a brilliant journalist with a keen sense of humor, and a headline jumped into his head as Cadwallader Hunter stamped upon his toe—"A Difficult Young Man to Approach." He thought he saw his way to something rather choice for tomorrow morning's Light.

Somehow between valet and page the wild litter of shirts, trousers, boots and other horrors reminiscent of Foxham was rebuilt into a tower more leaning than before. Then, while the valet scuttled away with his trailing, sliding load, the page remained behind and courageously announced the visitors.

Perhaps if Foxham had spared him a few of his favorite tie pins or if the blow of his loss had not caught him on an empty stomach Loveland might have seen the humor of the situation as Tony Kidd saw it. But everything was against him in a black world, and his late shipmate's intrusion with a stranger was the one last drop in a bitter cup which he refused to swallow.

Never had Cadwallader Hunter's handsome bear looked less handsome or more dangerous than he looked as he stood blocking the way to his den, at bay against fate and against his leader.

"My dear fellow, what has happened to upset you?" exclaimed Cadwallader Hunter, warned by Loveland's expression that the only hope lay in getting the first word.

"Upset me?" echoed Val, glaring blue fire so vindictively that Kidd expected his introducer to be the next one "upset." "My d—— valet has stolen all my clothes and made me a present of his own; that's all."

"How shocking!" sympathized Cadwallader Hunter.

"Well, yes, it is rather a shock," returned Loveland dryly, "and if you don't mind I think I'd better ask you to let me get over it alone."

"Oh, certainly, I quite understand," purred the banished courtier. But Kidd was making mental notes, and Cadwallader Hunter strove to retain his reputation as a valued cousin. "Just a minute or two, dear boy, and we'll take ourselves off. This is Mr. Kidd, from one of our most important papers"—

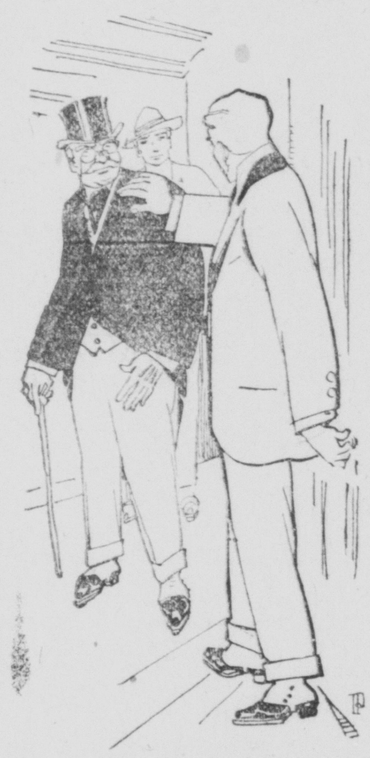

"Happy to see him another time," snapped Loveland. "Just now I'm in no temper to entertain strangers."

"But at least," Cadwallader Hunter protested, "you mustn't look on me as a stranger, my dear fellow, and if there's anything I can do"—

"My dear fellow," Loveland flung back at him in angry mimicry, "if you keep on I'm more likely to look on you as a bore. The one thing you can do for me is to go and take your newspaper friend with you. Good morning."

And the bear shot back into his den, banging the door.

"The British lion before his midday meal," remarked the representative of the New York Light. "Another minute and he'd have snatched a free lunch—

"GO AND TAKE YOUR NEWSPAPER FRIEND WITH YOU."

Kidd with Hunter sauce! But serve me up on toast if he hasn't got sauce enough of his own."

"He comes of a hot tempered family," Cadwallader Hunter explained his English relative.

"I should say they'd been hot ever since William the Conqueror," commented Mr. Kidd. "Good family to keep away from when you haven't got your gun. I forgot mine this morning."

But he had not forgotten his stylographic pen.

The moment that the door had slammed Loveland's ears tingled with the consciousness that not only had he been guilty of a very rude act, but a particularly stupid one.

He reminded himself that a great liberty had been taken with him at an inopportune moment, that he was not used to having liberties taken with him at the best of times and that Cadwallader Hunter deserved all he had got for coming up to him uninvited with a stranger, a newspaper man, in tow. Still, Val was not happy, and if he had not been too stubbornly proud to yield to his first impulse he would have flung open the door and run after his visitors with apologies. But, no; he would not do it—a bad precedent to make with a person like Cadwallader Hunter, he said, excusing himself.

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the indelicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispenses with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"Favorite Prescription" is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice.

Some of the numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of KNOWN COMPOSITION. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 31 one-cent stamps for cloth-bound copy.

If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge, by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.

HOME ENDORSEMENT

Hundreds of Rushville Citizens Can Tell You All About it.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Rushville people should be evidence beyond dispute for every Rushville reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

W. H. Hudson, 1015 North Harrison street, Rushville, Ind., says "I hold a very high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, although I have never used them myself. About six years ago when living in Vernon, Ky., a member of my family was annoyed by pains across the small of the back and other symptoms of kidney complaint. At that time I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a supply. They acted just as represented and in a short time their use brought entire relief. I have unlimited faith in the curative powers of Doan's Kidney Pills and do not hesitate to give them my endorsement."

SIDE TALKS ON PUBLIC AFFAIRS

By Old John Henry.

To the Editor:

What did the Kern people imagine Senator Shively would do in St. Joseph county—turn the other cheek to the slap of Kern?

Did anyone think for a minute that Senator Shively would deliver support from his own home to the cause of the man who had charged bribery against the Shively forces in the 1909 legislative caucus?

It must be remembered that while John W. Kern, through his charges and later through his cowardly silence and fulsome eulogy of Shively, made himself ridiculous in the presence of the people, he at the same time put Senator Shively in the most embarrassing position a public man can fall to.

In Illinois the alleged beneficiary of bribery, as we all know, has been subjected to grand jury probe, congressional inquiry and has been publicly humiliated by eminent men. Lorimer, Republican, elected by purchased Democratic legislators, is shamed and disgraced before the world.

In Indiana it is charged by John W. Kern in a statement which has never been retracted, that Senator Shively, Democrat, was elected to office by the votes of purchased Democrats in a secret ballot caucus which betrayed Kern—if Kern is to be believed. Is there any shame in all this for Shively? Is there any humiliation in this situation for the South Bend man?

It strikes me that Senator Shively would blush and tingle even through a hippopotamus hide at very thought of the Kern charges.

So why stand amazed when Shively's friends in St. Joseph county utterly repudiate Kern, who accused Shively? What else could Shively do but sting Kern?

Obviously, if a man does not feel ready or willing to demand an inquiry into his caucus record, the next best thing for him to do is to abuse or knife his accuser.

Decent people would like to see Shively take a manful stand and ask for an investigation of his title to a toga. The voters would like to see the taint removed from the official garment of the Democratic senator. But if he does not choose to risk the probe; if he abhors light and courts darkness, well—the people are not to be astonished if, in the darkness, the dirk knife of revenge slips between the quaking ribs of one John Kern, complaining witness.

OLD JOHN HENRY.

Crops and Lands.

The Vincennes Sun tells of a land deal in which Henry Peden bought a farm of James C. Williams for $110 an acre. The land is in Vigo township, Knox county. The price is more than double the value of the same land in 1896. Mr. Peden believes the ground is worth $110 an acre. He knows the land value is due to present crop prices. He is against a return to low prices because he knows such a slump would cut his land value in two, a large dead loss to him.

"Sundry Subjects."

Much ado is being made in Republican papers over the refusal of the Democratic convention at Springbrook, last Saturday, to pass resolutions touching upon sundry subjects.—South Bend Times.

John W. Kern and the state convention senatorial endorsement have gone into the "sundry subjects" column, according to the Times. It has not been long since the Times editor spoke of Kern's bribery charges against Shively as "peanut politics."

NO MORE GRAY HAIR

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready to use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers, and it can be bought for 50 cents and $1 a bottle at almost any first-class drug store, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

HEAVY REWARD FOR WRECKERS

Los Angeles Stirred By Disaster to the Times.

TWENTY-ONE PERSONS KILLED

In Explosion and Fire the Plant of the Los Angeles Times Was Destroyed and More Than a Score of Employes Were Caught in Awful Trap, Which Publisher Lays at the Door of Labor Unions, but Which the Unions Deny.

Los Angeles, Oct. 3.—Twenty-one persons, it is now known, lost their lives in an explosion and fire which destroyed the Los Angeles Times building early Saturday morning.

Only five of the nineteen bodies buried in the ruins have been recovered, although scores of men are at work removing debris. The police are busy seeking clues to the perpetrators of the outrage. Little real progress seems to have been made. The latest suspect, the third taken into custody, is Martin Egan, and he is an alleged anarchist. The police decline to say on what grounds they took him in. Eighteen thousand five hundred dollars' reward is now offered for the arrest of the persons who blew up the plant. The city council has raised the city's reward from $5,000 to $10,000. In addition to this the union labor leaders have offered $7,500 and other newspapers $1,000.

General Otis has issued a statement in which he says: "While I am amazed at the desperation of criminal conspirators in destroying the Times building and slaying its loyal defenders, whose loss I deeply deplore, the Times itself will live bravely defending the vital and essential principles of industrial freedom under the law, which must yet triumph in the entire nation."

When some friend expressed sympathy with Otis for the loss of his plant, he replied: "Never mind the buildings. I can get $500,000 worth of new machinery by simply signing a check, but who is going to give me back my men?"

The city was startled Saturday afternoon when it was learned that an infernal machine had been found on a rear porch of the home of General Harrison Grey Otis, publisher and chief editor of the Times. Earlier in the day, after the disaster at the Times publishing house, a dynamite bomb was discovered at the home of F. J. Zeehandelaar, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' associa- General Otis has for twenty years fought organized labor. The secretary of the Merchants' association has been active in the anti-union warfare.

As a result of the tragedy of the publishing house direct charges are made by General Otis and his heads of departments that organized labor was responsible for the destruction of the plant. It is asserted by heads of the Times staff and also by the police that the destruction of the Times building was accomplished by the use of dynamite.

A disavowal of labor union responsibility for the Times dynamiting from a labor union source came from the strike committee of the metal trades, members of which have been on strike for some months, and between which organization and the Times there has been great bitterness. The committee's statement declares that "the statement in the Times that the explosion was caused by some person or persons connected with organized labor here or elsewhere is false. We deny unequivocally that the unions or any union man in our knowledge had anything to do with any violence against the Times employes or property. We stand ready and willing to do all in our power to aid in a thorough investigation of the explosion."

RELIGIOUS ROWS

Madrid Stirred by Fight Between Clericals and Republicans.

Madrid, Oct. 3.—There was a lively fight Sunday between clericals and republicans outside the palace of the governor. A Catholic procession, after parading through the streets, halted at the palace and sent a deputation in to see the governor. Meanwhile the processionists started to sing hymns. A group of republicans tried to drown their voices with the Marseillaise. The rivals were soon engaged in a hot fight with canes and fists, all of them shouting demoniacally.

The gendarmes and police rushed in and laid on indiscriminately with the flats of their swords. They soon scattered the rioters.

Suicide of a Young Physician.

New York, Oct. 3.—Dr. H. B. Gudger, of Asheville, N. C., a young graduate of the University of Pennsylvania medical school, killed himself Sunday in a room of the Grand Union hotel while his mother fought with him for possession of the razor with which he was cutting his throat. Dr. Gudger's last year of study proved a heavy load for him to carry, and by the time he had finished his examinations his health was pretty well broken down, and about a month ago he began to exhibit signs of acute melancholia. He had been brought here to be examined by specialists.

DEATH TAKES TOLL IN THE AUTO RACES

Four Killed In Vanderbilt Cup Contest.

New York, Oct. 3.—Of the more than twenty who were injured in Saturday's Vanderbilt cup race, when five were killed, three of those taken to the Nassau hospital are said to be still in danger. Mrs. Ferdinand D'Zubia, whose husband was killed when the car he was driving, containing his wife and four other men, got beyond his control on the hill near Old Westbury and plunged in the darkness to the bottom, where it turned over, is one of those who is still in extreme danger. Both her legs were broken.

Harold Stone, the driver of car No. 12, is the second of those likely to die. His car jumped the Meadowbrook bridge, killing the mechanician, Matthew Bacon, and threw him clear. Both his legs were broken. Theodore Gramucci, a chauffeur for Wilfred Taupier, has few chances to live. His car was driven into a telegraph pole and Gramucci received internal injuries. Four others in the machine at the time were also hurt. C. Cornell Reid's leg being broken, but his condition is not serious.

Louis Chevrolet, the driver of car No. 29, is still at the hospital suffering from shock and nervousness more than anything else. A bursting tire caused his machine to swerve off the road into a yard, where Chevrolet was thrown out, and Charles Miller, mechanician, was pinned under the machine and killed. The other fatality was that of Edward Lynch, a bystander, run down after the race. He died in the hospital.

Lake Steamer Goes Down.

Detroit, Oct. 3.—The big freight steamer New York foundered in Lake Huron, two miles south of Thunder Bay lighthouse. The crew was picked up by the steamer Mataafa after they had taken to the yawl boats, a few minutes before the boat sank.

THIRTY-NINE ... THE DEATH LIST

That Number of the New Hampshire's Crew Lost

BOAT SWAMPED IN THE HUDSON

Returning to the Vessel From Shore Leave in the City, Hundred or More Jackies Were Precipitated Into the Water by Capsizining of the Boat—While Many Were Rescued, Roll Call Showed Twenty-nine Missing.

New York, Oct. 3.—In an official statement authorized by Rear Admiral Charles N. Vreeland and given out by Captain Thomas S. Rodgers of the battleship New Hampshire, the number of the New Hampshire's sailors who are believed to have been on the battleship's sailing launch when it filled in the Hudson on Saturday night and who are still missing is set down at twenty-nine. Twelve members of Saturday's liberty party off the New Hampshire, who were not known to have been in the launch, but who are still missing, were noted in Captain Rodgers's list.

Captain Rodgers gave out his statement after the expiration of the last liberty party's shore leave at 7 o'clock Sunday night. He said that the list of missing represented a careful process of elimination made in conjunction with the calling of the entire ship's roll. Though police boats dragged the river between the warship's anchorage off West 158th street and the shore all day, no bodies were recovered. The water there is very deep and grappling cannot be followed to great advantage.

The sailors were returning to the New Hampshire after shore leave and more than 100 of them, it is estimated, had crowded aboard the tender, which was being towed to the battleship. About 300 yards off shore the craft swamped and the entire load of jackies was precipitated into the water. Some of the twenty-nine missing men may have swam ashore or have been picked up by shore launches and have not reported yet. Nothing more definite can be known until the entire liberty party of 350 men has been accounted for.

FUSE FIZZLES OUT

Else Home of Chicagoan Would Have Been Destroyed by Dynamite.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Heavy police guard is maintained about the Horace L. Brand home at 535 Wellington avenue, since the second bomb, a twelve-inch iron pipe filled with dynamite and nitroglycerin, was found on the front porch of his new building at this address. The bomb was analyzed by police chemists and found to contain 80 per cent dynamite and 20 per cent nitroglycerin.

The first bomb thrown at the Brand residence demolished two rooms in the unfinished garage. It was a time bomb and was placed at 8:15 on the evening of Sept. 27.

The bomb that was found on the porch of the new building had a long fuse, which was burned slightly. It is the supposition of the police that it was lighted when placed at the front door, but went out. Besides the Chicago police that are working on the case, private detectives are also guarding the premises.

Arranging For Long Flight.

St. Louis, Oct. 3.—Roy Knabenshue, the aviator, has arrived here from Springfield, Ill., bringing with him the news that either Walter Brookins, the young aviator who made the flight from Chicago to Springfield, or Arch Hoxsey, would probably fly from Springfield to the Kinloch aviation field at St. Louis next Saturday. The only condition attached to the flight is that the Aero club of St. Louis charter a special train to follow the aviator from Springfield to St. Louis.

Brutal Autoists Did Not Stop.

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Westchester county has another auto murder case in the killing of Charles Meyers by a machine on the Tarrytown road a mile from White Plains. The autoists did not stop. The machine struck Meyers and threw him to the opposite side of the road against a rail fence. The coroner will make every effort to find the parties who killed Meyers.

Those who know, say that the returns from this session will bring out some rather sensational cases.

FAVORS CHANGE IN THE METHOD

Edward M. White Assistant Attorney General, Proposes New Plan, For Selecting Prosecuting Attorney.

TALKS ON STATE'S LAWYERS

Would Have Them Named by Board And Held Responsible to the Attorney General.

The Attorney General, Edward M. White, assistant attorney general and formerly prosecuting attorney of Delaware county, would have all prosecuting attorneys held responsible directly to the attorney general for the performance of their duties. Furthermore, Mr. White favors the appointment of prosecuting attorneys by an impartial board, composed of the attorney general, the Governor and one other State officer.

"The prosecuting attorneys," said Mr. White, "are the officers of the State of Indiana and not of the counties. Under the present law they received uniformly $500 salary and what fees they are able to earn and collect through fines imposed following convictions in criminal cases. They often seek the conviction of men who are not guilty and who ought not to be convicted, simply because of the fee that is forthcoming. Their salaries should be fixed according to the work they do and should not depend upon fees.

"Consider, for example, the suits brought by the attorney general in the Fred Miller and Home Brewing Company cases. Suppose the Supreme Court holds the attorney general is not the proper relation in such cases and the prosecuting attorney is. The State must either confess it does not want such cases prosecuted or the Legislature must give the attorney general the statutory power to act as relator.

"Not more than one in six of the prosecutors are competent to bring quo warranto action such as is involved in the brewing company cases. Of these one-sixth, three-fourths would not bring the action because of local influences, in many counties the prosecutors are afraid to do their duty, especially if they are candidates for re-election.

"Again, half the evidence in a quo warranto case lies outside the county where the prosecuting attorney resids and, since no provision is made for traveling expenses, it is to go very far out of their way to collect evidence, however valuable or relevant to the case it may be. As a deputy in the office of the attorney general no pains need be spared in the collection of evidence.

"I believe as an officer of the State the prosecuting attorney ought to be paid wholly by the State and that rules for his discharge for failure to do his duty ought to be provided. I believe he ought to be linked to the office of the attorney general. If these changes were made there would be fewer complaints about incompetence and political obligations interfering with the performance of the duties of prosecuting attorney.

The objection that a political machine might be created in the appointmen of the prosecuting attorneys by the attorney general or by a board of which he is a member, could be met easily. Other State officers at present have the power to appoint several scores of deputies in some cases and the objection to this power being lodged in one, two or three men has not been raised. Certainly it has not become a menace. I view this situation as one who has been a prosecuting attorney and as one who has served the State in the office of the attorney general. These reforms in th organization of the Sate's legal department are such as have impressed themselves upon me in the course of my experience in both offices."
